

BRITTANIE NGO

Brittanie Ngo is a project manager with the 412th Communications Squadron at Edwards AFB, CA Air Force Material Command. She is responsible for management and implementation of IT projects across 412th Test Wing organizations.

Previously, she was a National Business Development Manager at Microsoft and a Cloud Program Manager at Ingram Micro responsible for program development resulting in deliverables of executive business plans for organizations ranging from $30M-$230M in revenue, IT projects, cloud vendor management, industry events, and corporate social responsibility programs.

In 2020, she enlisted as a volunteer in the Army Component Command where she serves as a Specialist in the California State Guard Cyber Unit to provide support to public agencies against cyberattacks.

Having escaped during the fall of Saigon, she has a passion for preserving our nation's freedoms and support of the warfighters who protect them.

She has a special place in her heart for honoring our military and Vietnam Veterans in addition to spearheading numerous community events through membership in over 20 volunteer and Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Accessibility organizations including Asian, Black, Hispanic, LGBTQ, and developmental disability-focused entities.

She has been featured as a keynote speaker at multiple Honor Flights for World War II and Vietnam veterans. She hosted 2 Vietnam Veterans Remembrance Events in Lancaster and Anaheim, CA reaching over 300 attendees including the Young Marines, Southern California Children's Choir, refugee speeches, political representatives, pinning ceremony, and a memorable night that was heralded by Vietnam Veterans as the best event they have ever been to.

She has been featured by Air Force Civilian Services as a testament to the dedication and commitment in protecting our nation's freedoms and contribution to the mission: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Zmg1wAAyT-k> as well as from members of Congress and the Senate.

She was recently crowned Ms. Elite U.S. Woman of Achievement whose purpose is to recognize and develop women leaders in their communities. With the platform of "Patriotism and Gratitude" she competed and won the national title for achievements in community service, excellence in public speaking, and professional achievements.

As a Vietnamese refugee and a proud U.S. Citizen, Ms. Ngo is a testament to the American immigrant dream in her efforts to give back to the community and society which enabled her freedoms and thereby a worthy nominee for the "Woman of Promise" and "Woman of Philanthropy" categories.

EDUCATION

1997 Bachelors of Social Ecology, University of California, Irvine, Irvine, CA
2000 Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer, Stanbridge College, Irvine, CA
2022 Masters of Science, Strategic Communications, University of Maryland Global Campus, Adelphi, MD

MAJOR AWARDS AND DECORATIONS

Certificate of Recognition, Congressman John Campbell
Certificate of Recognition, Congressman Lou Correa
Certificate of Recognition, Congressman Mike Garcia
Certificate of Recognition, Congressman Bob Huff
Certificate of Recognition, Congresswoman Young Kim
Certificate of Recognition, Congresswoman Michelle Steel
Certificate of Recognition, Senator Tom Umberg
Certificate of Recognition, Senator Scott Wilk
412th Communications Squadron Volunteer of the Quarter
Alumnus of the Year, Stanbridge College